

My local Air1 Radio Station (90.1) has had a great impact on my own life with its encouraging message and music. I've been greatly blessed in having a local Air 1 station I can listen to. I also appreciate how they keep me up to date on events going on in my area, and notify me of ways to help my community through service and ministry.

If Air1 was displaced by an LPFM broadcaster with a different program, it would be a great loss to myself and the community that it serves. There are only a few radio stations who have such a positive impact on the community. Regardless of whether a person agrees with their religious views, they spread words of encouragement to people in need of uplifting. So many people are impacted daily (myself included) by their program. Other radio stations play good music and have decent programming, but are not as encouraging as Air1. It would be in the best interest of each community that has an Air1 station to keep it in service.
